

Municipal Park

Rocky Point State Park
Warwick, RI

Profile

- Former amusement park transformed to coastal state park
- Beautiful waterfront vistas
- 120 acres of open space
- Mile long walking path
- Licensed on-shore fishing

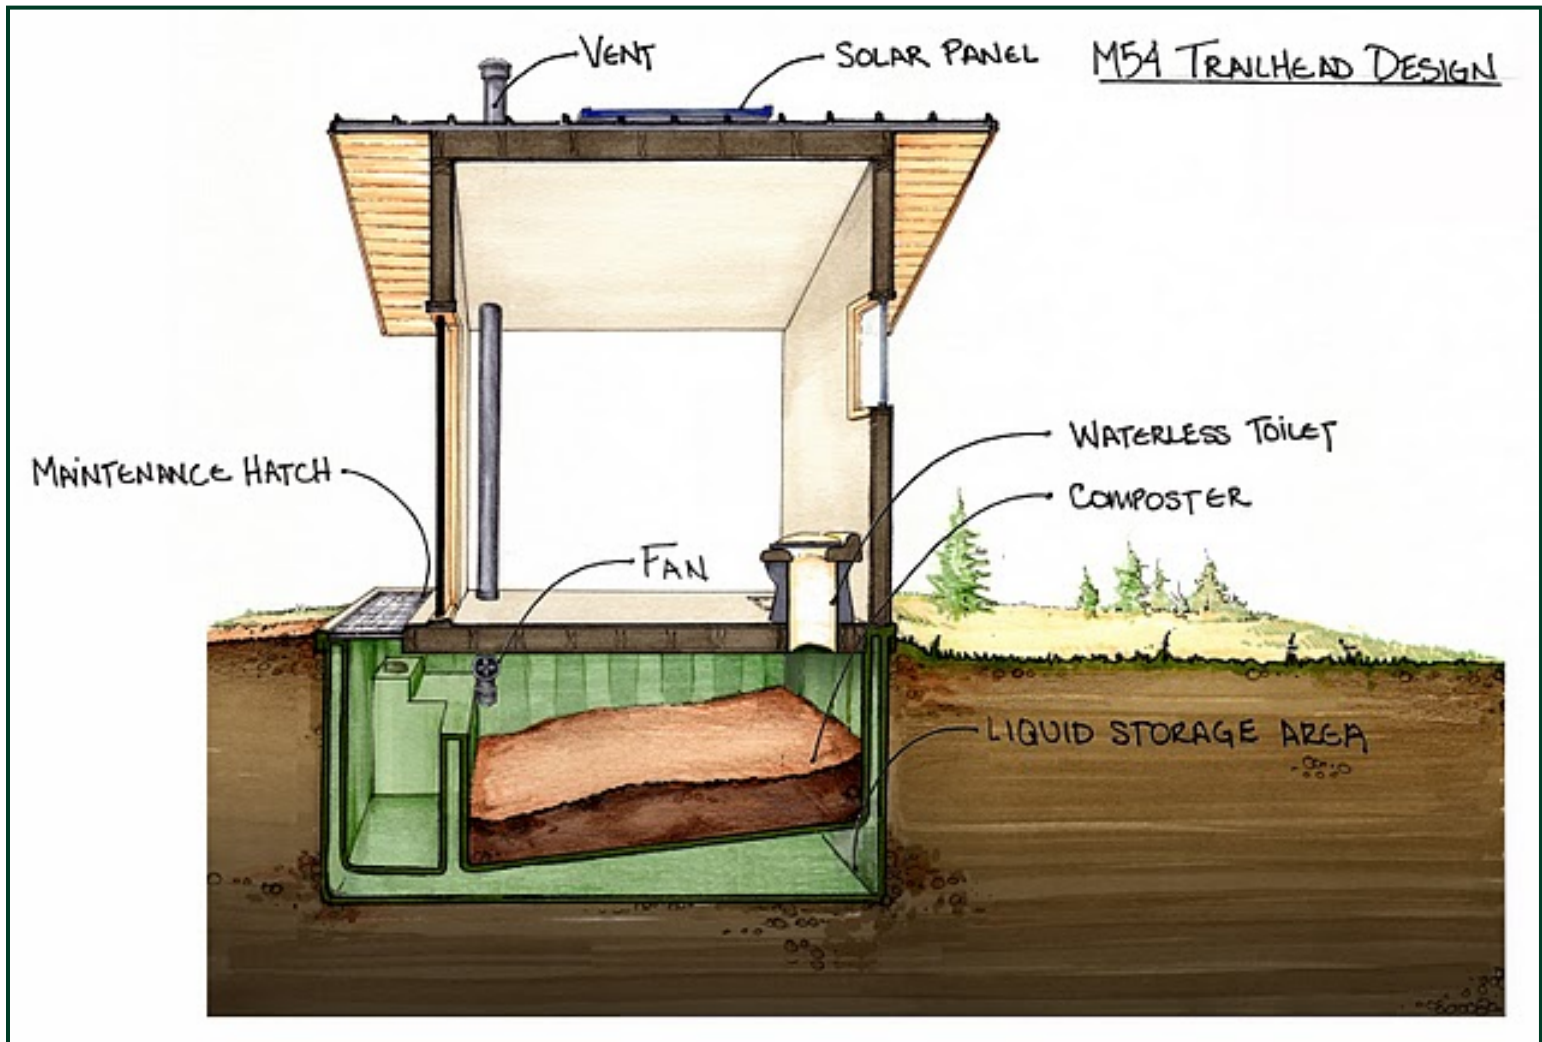

Challenge

- Encourage prolonged, healthy outdoor activity
- Provide safe, sanitary restrooms
- Portable, rented toilets are unappealing and prone to 'tipping'
- No septic, sewer, or water on site
- Too costly to connect to sewer

Solution

- Installed Clivus self-contained composting restroom buildings
- Eliminated sewage and wastewater
- Site disturbance was contained to the building footprint

All Clivus systems are NSF Standard 41 Tested and Certified

The Clivus Model C11 trailhead restroom is a heavy duty building with a self-contained composting waste treatment system. There is no discharge of waste or pollution, site disturbance is limited to the footprint of the building, and the ventilation fan can be operated with solar power if necessary. These units are all ADA accessible and can be placed in remote areas.
